Another college year comes to a close at Huntington. Its record is made. Many and varied have been our experience this year. Fond anticipations became exciting realities faded into lingering memories.

The Staff submits this 18th volume of the Mnemosyne that it might refresh your memory in the future days, and bring before you pleasant recollections of this college year

To Ralph W. Wood, '06, who has shown his uncompromising loyalty to Huntington College and all its interests, by his "always to be remembered" patient spirit, in preserving, maintaining, and promoting the ideals of "Huntington" we respectfully dedicate this "Muse of Memory".

SENIORS—Aft and Foreward

Since no one will read this, except perhaps a Senior or two looking for his or her name, I have and take great liberty.

Within the history of the senior, of course, came the usual school activities—his classes and experiences. However, we wish to discuss that finished product, the Senior.

As is the universal case, the class began with many and ends with few, relatively and numerically speaking. We have been reduced in numbers by one-half. You say, "Ah! 'Tis too bad." But no, in quality our ranks are increased ten-fold. We were so much unprocessed iron ore. The refining has been hard: great heat, much pounding, some segregating of alloy has made us few only in number, but the richer product.

History is the past with a present. He has learned that to achieve he must strive. Drive and intensity are the traits to achievement. In the study hall, in the classroom, on the basketball floor he is marked by his drive. Achieve to what end? It is that the product might be an instrument fit for service. He has achieved to serve. Now he must serve to achieve.

He has learned more fully of another possession of his very own. Some call it personality. Let us call it his individuality, his sincere self, the radius of his influence. Many a hidden asset has been unearthed. All this is to be to the betterment of the channel through which he is to make his contribution.

Then the history of the past has a future. The refining has made the senior a richer product. Ah! Yet we must remember an untried tool. We have weathered the storm of making. Can we master the storm of breaking? Many a once useful tool has found the ill-fated way to the scrap heap. We are again to begin another process. A process of breaking—a process in which many begin, and in which many are broken. Can he stand the weight of misunderstanding? The strain of underestimation? Can he drive forward in the absence of laud and shall only his tombstone bear marks of praise? Or, can he succeed when the world hails his success, or will he miss his mark midst the shower of conflict? Will his soul bear the same marks of distinction as his acts?

The history of the Senior is that he was ever a learner. Will it be he was ever a learner?

DESTINY IN FOUR ACTS

As the curtain came down on the third act of the yet unfinished drama, he leaned back in his seat and let thought react for him a little of these first scenes.

He remembered that as the curtain had gone up and as his eyes had grown accustomed to the bright footlights that he had seen a stage fairly cluttered with fifty or more actors, each wearing a little green cap, and hat it had been difficult to tell them apart. They had run to and fro, missing their cues and stumbling over their lines. But gradually as the play had progressed, improvements were noticed. He had liked that first act despite the lack of poise and proper adjustment of the actors. The air of expectancy, and the electrifying tenseness of an assumed enthusiasm made it one of the most interesting of the acts.

A superior, if much smaller, cast greeted him during the second act. This act went more smoothly, but there was plenty of action. There had been that mad scramble to keep the wearers-of-the-green from hoisting their flag and the scavenger hunt with the dignitaries. Most of the characters, care-free and light-hearted, provided all kinds of comedy. Finding their places in the scenes of college life occupied most of the actors. It had been a little hard to close that act, because it meant saying "goodbye" to quite a few who had said their last lines on the stage of old H. C.

Curtain! Curtain! The third act of DESTINY IN FOUR ACTS opened with the introduction of nine new characters and a more experienced cast. They were Loretta Byers, Mable Kohr, Myles Parrish, Max Smith, John Mellen, Thelma Roush, Mrs. R. Gallagher, Edmund DeLine, and Edward Davidson.

Gerald Stucker, leading man, starred in his usual interesting manner in the role of president. The role of vice-president was filled by Bernadine Hoffman. Other important performers were Mable Kohr as the secretary, Galen Colclessor, treasurer, during the first scene, and Pauline Scholl during the second scene. Frances Hough, Dwight Lange, and DeWitt Baker were the representatives in the Student Council.

Among the more outstanding scenes is the bonfire scene on the banks of the river when the entire cast welcomed the freshmen to college life. Nor will the first eventful junior penny supper be forgotten, or that "play within a play," THE HIGHWAYMAN. Then came the climax—the beautiful junior May festival with the crowning of the May Queen. Bringing that act to a grand finale the traditional Junior-Senior reception will always live in the memories of the entire cast.

And the curtain came down on the third act. The last act awaits, unrevealed, behind heavy curtains: we have set our stage; we must play our parts. May the best be yet to come.

CLASS OF '41

Twenty-two members of the class of '41 returned to our campus September 12, 1938, to place their names among those privileged to be students of Huntington College. These sophomores trailed on to our campus and, lo! and, behold! a new girl's dormitory. The sophomore girls were thrilled indeed, 'such a "scrumptious" place to stay.' We welcomed several new classmates and our group was increased to thirty-two members. Thus a new year started successfully.

At the first class meeting on September 19, Doctor Miller met with us as our advisor, and we selected our officers for the year. Those who reigned over us through this year were: President, Archie Grogan; Vice-president, Morris Jones; Secretary, Helen Brown; Treasurer, Philip Zeigler; and Student Council representatives, Margaret Rowden and Earl Kreiger. There were then several traditions to be carried out, such as the raising of the sophomore flag and guiding the faltering steps of the freshmen. It was truly a memorable day, that October 24, when we sophomores were able to avenge ourselves on those poor innocent freshmen for the treatment we had received the year before as freshmen.

It was indeed an occasion when a sweet old grandmother in the person of Charles McCreery came tripping up the steps, and Dick Johnson as a 'bundle from heaven' fell out of his baby carriage. Several days later each freshman was confronted by a sophomore, who stated, "Here is your freshman hat; we advise you to wear it until Thanksgiving, for your own safety." Throughout the year every activity has been colored by the presence of the sophomores. We are well represented in the choir, and a majority of our class are members of Zeta, Philo, Gospel Volunteers, Y. M. C. A., and Y. W. C. A. Also on the debate teams the sophomores exhibited their prowess.

What the basketball team would have done without Earl Kreiger, Morris Jones, and Paul Graham it is hard to say. They gave their best to make an improved basketball team. Wilmer Bugher, another sophomore, started out the year playing excellent basketball, but because of illness was forced to quit. The sophomores are supplying eight of their members to the group of graduates this year. Those leaving us are Esther Barnes, Hazel Brandeberry, Esther Hirschy, Evelyn Middaugh, Frances Remley, Tréda Rupley, Margaret Rowden, and Philip Zeigler.

The seniors entertained the sophomores very well at a 'hamburger fry' in the fall of the year and in the following spring the sophomores reciprocated with a party for the seniors. Of course, our treasurer had some difficulty in collecting the dues so that we could entertain the seniors in the fashion due to them, but he was finally successful after a few threats of not being able to go to the party.

The sophomores could not have had a better or more successful year. So as we drop a few more of our youthful antics this summer we will be remembering that next fall we will return as dignified juniors and we must be prepared to live up to that adjective in the full sense of the word.

Dear Esther,
May your life be most fruitful and helpful.
May God be your help and strength at all times.
I have appreciated your acquaintance
Paul B.

CLASS OF '42

Last September a new group of students classed as "freshmen" entered Huntington College for the purpose of broadening themselves educationally. A class which had come from the north, south, east and west and had combined their different ideas could not help but be an object of attention to the faculty and upper classmen.

The Freshmen were cordially accepted by the College. The "Y" organizations were the donors of a big sister and a big brother for each new student. The Freshmen took the path to the physical education building the first evening in order to participate in the first social activity of the year, the "Y Mixer." Here some first and lasting acquaintances were made.

The upper classmen kept the Freshmen so busy that they did not have time to wish for sunny California, the plains of Illinois, or wherever their former homes happened to be.

On a beautiful moonlight evening the Juniors entertained the Freshmen by having a weiner roast on the banks of the Salamonie River.

A business meeting for the purpose of organizing the class was called by Dr. Clipp, the class advisor. The results of the annual election were as follows: Starling Griffin, president; Ardis Porter, vice-president; Duane Stroud, secretary-treasurer; Lucille White, class representative to the Student Council.

This leads into "Freshmen Day," a day on which the Freshmen are at the mercy of the Sophomores. Upon the request of the latter, the Freshmen must dress and act in an unusual manner. "Wrong Way" Corrigan, grandma, Mutt and Jeff, the hen-pecked husband and his wife, a beautiful baby and his loving mother, Mahatma Gandhi, were some of the persons mimicked by the Freshmen.

At the beginning of the second semester some new members arrived and filled the vacancies made by some who could not remain. The class was happy to welcome James Galliher, Robert Herzog, Charles Morrett, John Gabrielson, Wayne Shepherdson, a former student; Ralph Tropf and Carl Crosby.

Due to the loss of our class president and member to student council, the class met at the beginning of the second semester for the purpose of reorganization. The vice-president, Ardis Porter and the secretary-treasurer, Duane Stroud became president and vice-president, respectively. Maxine Birdsall was elected secretary-treasurer and Ralph Tropf was elected to the position of Freshman member of the Student Council.

The talents possessed by the Freshmen have aroused much comment. Freshmen members of the College Choir are Neoma Barker, Velma Krogman, Joe Woods, Charles McCreery, John Gabrielson, Olin Vincent and Wayne Shepherdson. Members of the Freshman class participating in debate are Maxine Birdsall, Ardis Porter, Mary Schumm, Emma Jeanne Funk, and Edward Roush.

This group which contains talented ambitious individuals cannot help but make an interesting and valuable Sophomore class for Huntington College next year.

"THE OFFICE"

As you enter the building, you usually hear a "peck, peck" and the "banging" of a carriage which belongs to a typewriter. When you reach the main hall on the first floor, you find that the noises heard, are coming from a room at your left. The word "OFFICE," on the door, satisfies your curiosity.

In the case of students who know where the office is, they are usually found around Mr. Ellerbrook's desk on two occasions, namely "Registration Day" and about a week before mid-semester and semester "exams." You can guess the attraction in the office at these times, greenbacks and silver.

The College employs two full-time employees, Mrs. Ralph Gallagher and Mr. L. W. Ellerbrook. Students working in the office this year were Margaret Rowden, Katherine Lucas, Margaret Carter and Helen Brown. Mrs. Gallagher acts as bookkeeper and Mr. Ellerbrook, business manager and assistant to the president. The students who work in the office mail catalogues and bulletins to prospective students, do mimeographing, stenography work, take care of the book store and other phases of office work. The girls in the office send out approximately 25,000 letters annually.

The office is certainly one of the most important rooms in the building whose work is to help students, and maintain Huntington College.

What would we do without: Mr. Ellerbrook keeping after us to pay our fees; Dr. Mason's smile and warm greeting, and Mrs. Gallagher keeping our accounts straight?
H. B.

Y. W. C. A.

The Huntington College Young Woman's Christian Association has made strides this year in accomplishing the goal toward which it has always worked. That goal or purpose is stated by the organization itself in these words: "To build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common life those ideals of personal and social living to which we are committed by our faith as Christians. In this endeavor we seek to understand Jesus, to share His love for all people, and to grow in knowledge and love of God."

The young ladies furnished the recreation room in Livingston Hall for the use of girls and for use on social nights when visitors are present. All of the girls donated something to help the Y. W.'s in fixing up this room. There is still some work to be done on this project, and the new officers are enthusiastic over completing the work that is so worthy.

Of the many outstanding meetings held throughout the year, one very unique and enjoyed very much, was the African supper. At this meeting Miss Effie Hodgeboom helped the girls cook rice in the native style. Mrs. Erma Carlson, a returned missionary from Africa, in a very interesting and instructive manner gave the girls first-hand knowledge on "African Women." Other speakers during the year included Mrs. Elmer Becker and Mrs. Sayle.

A great deal of credit for the splendid accomplishment of the Y. W. is due to the capable leadership of Bernadine Hoffman, president, and her corps of officers. Vice-president, Pauline Scholl; Secretary, Anne Griffin; Treasurer, Betty Goodale; Sponsor, Dr. Edna M. Robinson. B. G.

Y. M. C. A.

The Huntington College Y. M. C. A. has faced and survived many difficulties during this year. Although our achievements have not been extraordinarily great, they can only be measured by time.

The "Y" year opens when the new officers are elected and take office on or before the first of April. Our officers for the past year were DeWitt Baker, president; Olin Strole, vice-president; Garth Keller, secretary, and Paul Graham, treasurer.

The first event of the "Y" calendar was the Y-Senior Banquet given in the college dining hall on the evening of May 12th. The Rev. B. M. Bechdolt, pastor of the Methodist church in Huntington, delivered the address.

Following this comes the "high" of the "Y" year, the annual Y-Retreat, upon May 30th. This spring we went to Camp Mack at Lake Wawbee, and there enjoyed the greatest day of spiritual and physical uplift in the entire college year. The Rev. Elmer Becker, the general secretary of Christian Education in the United Brethren church, was our discussion leader.

When we returned after the summer vacation, two of our officers were missing. In their stead, we elected Dwight Lange as vice-president, and Maurice Jones as secretary.

Perhaps one of the greatest contributions of the Y. M. C. A. during the year was the erection of an outdoor stone pulpit in the ravine. The original plans (which are not yet fully completed) included seats upon the north slope of the ravine. Several meetings were held in this outdoor chapel during the summer and it is hoped that this will become one of the most sacred spots upon the college campus.

We are expecting a good year in the service of the King and have many plans which will benefit us spiritually and will make our presence as an organization an uplifting factor of our institution. D. B.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

At the beginning of the school year, the young people of the College and community organized a Christian Endeavor group and held their weekly services in the C. E. room of the church at 4:30 each Sunday afternoon.

With the help of the Superintendent, Rev. J. Ralph Pfister, the president and her co-workers—Vice-president, DeWitt Baker; Secretary, Neoma Barker; Treasurer, Wilma Monroe; Pianist, Pauline Scholl; Chorister, Charles McCreery, and other members, planned a C. E. Retreat at the Huntington Y. M. C. A. to work out the program for the year. Believing that a 100% Christian Endeavor Society should have all of its members interested and working, the commission plan of organization was adopted and the following commission directors appointed:

Devotional Life Commission—Lucile Cole.

Fellowship Commission—Ardis Porter.

Service Commission—Katherine Lucas.

Stewardship-Missions Commission—Wilma Monroe.

Each Endeavorer was a member and worker in one of the commissions and the year's program was planned with a three-fold purpose: (1) To deepen and develop the spiritual life, (2) to train for service, (3) to find one's place in service.

Some of the precious memories of the year include the forming of a prayer circle which met fifteen minutes preceding each service to pray definitely for that service, as well as the inspirational services of Christian Endeavor Week. One cannot well enumerate the accomplishments or fruits of the year's work but God has richly blessed and we just pray that we as endeavorers will put on the "whole armour of God" and, presenting our bodies "a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God," go forward "For Christ and the Church."

THE GOSPEL VOLUNTEERS

"Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

The Gospel Volunteers has proved through the service it has rendered for the last six years, to be the liveliest Christian organization on the Campus.

It is the aim of this group of Christian students to be a living example for Christ on and off the Campus. We seek to lead those we come in contact with to Him.

Christ gave the commandment to us in Matthew 28:19 to go into all the world and preach the Gospel. This small army of fifty Volunteers has endeavored this year to fulfill this commandment. We have had a full program of activities including jail services, street services, church services, and we have helped out in several revival meetings.

We have received many blessings from God in our services. One of these blessings has been our early morning prayer meeting held at six o'clock every Monday morning. It has helped us to begin each week with renewed strength from our Heavenly Father. Our regular meetings, which have been held every two weeks, have been another source of blessings to us.

The prayer of each member this year has been:

"Lord, lay some soul upon my heart
And love that soul through me,
That I may nobly do my part
To win that soul to Thee."

ZETA

On September 16, 1938, the Zetaethian Literary Society of Huntington College began its fortieth year of activities. The old members returned enthusiastic for another year colored by Zeta's activities. The new girls soon took an interest and the year started very successfully.

The purpose of Zeta is to acquaint each girl with parliamentary law, and experience in presenting impromptu and addresses. They try to keep ahead of the Philos, and do not forget the long standing feud (not at all serious) between the two societies.

The annual moonlight hike opened the year's inter-society activities, and the well-remembered hay rack was another outstanding feature of the year, crowning a king and queen for the event. The programs of Zeta this year have been of a varied and interesting nature.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student union of Huntington College was first organized in the school year of 1931-32 for the purpose of giving the students a specific group through which to work. The authority of the union is vested in the council which since the time of its organization has been functioning smoothly in providing programs for the Friday morning chapel services, as well as sponsoring the Halloween Party and assisting with the preparations for the annual Washington Banquet and Campus Clean-Up Day.

This organization is composed of four members elected from the senior class, three from the junior, two from the sophomore, and one from the freshman, besides the presidents of each class and the faculty advisor. At the first meeting this year the council elected Melvin Burkholder president, Ralph Gallagher vice-president, Violet Funk secretary and Gerald Stucker treasurer. Dr. Stillson was the faculty advisor.

We have had several interesting programs during the year. The senior class presented the graduation exercises of 1900 when there was only one graduate. The juniors presented Noyes' "The Highwayman" in a very effective manner as their contribution. Interesting programs were also conducted by the freshmen and sophomore classes as well as other organizations of the campus. Some of the outstanding speakers were Father Gabriel from St. Felix Monastery, Adrian Little, County Supt. of schools, and C. E. Byers, Supt. of the Huntington schools.

The council has worked very efficiently in sponsoring the school functions which have come under its supervision. It desires to will to the following councils its wishes for the good attendance, unity of purpose and spirit of cooperation that the council has enjoyed this past year.

PHILO

The Good Ship Philo was launched upon its forty-second voyage into the stream of college activities, on September 16, 1938. Philo became larger than it has been for a long time, as a result of many new members joining our crew. We sailed under the able leadership of President George Martin, who was assisted by his many versatile assistants.

There were certain factors that had their influence upon the society, and it was not so flourishing during the first part of the year. But we soon got back to normal and sailed along again smoothly under the leadership of the new President, Lyle Cook.

Many things happened to make this year an interesting one. Some very promising talent was uncovered in our programs. We kept up with world affairs through topics of current events. Our literary knowledge was strengthened, as the lives of many well known authors were set before us. Music from the World War period thrilled our imagination. No Philo could end its voyage without having a good spelling bee and a debate. Last, but not least, were our impromptu speeches for the betterment of our speaking ability.

The Spring cruise of our voyage was completed with James Whitmore at the helm. "Ship Ahoy" mates, be ready to embark again next September.

MNEMOSYNE

The slogan, "A Bigger and Better Mnemosyne," has once more been the goal of this year's staff. Through the untiring efforts of our capable Editor-in-chief, Melvin Burkholder, and the business manager, Richard Goshorn, we feel that this end has been truly accomplished.

The word "Mnemosyne" comes from the Greek, meaning 'muse of memory.' This memory book is put out by the Juniors and Seniors. They have attempted to preserve records of all important events and functions so that a mere glance through the book will immediately recall to the mind pleasant thoughts of our college, friends, and various organizations. Also to keep alive the friendly spirit of Huntington College in the hearts of those who have attended, and portray it to those whom the book may reach.

The members of the staff hope that you will always cherish this book as one of your treasured possessions, and that in years to come you will look through its pages with pleasure and fond remembrances of our college.

North, East, South, and West—NEWS—The Huntingtonian.

This activity, although not as large as others, is one of the most powerful organizations of the school. Why? Because it reveals to the outside world the policies, plans, and activities of Huntington College. We may be small, but our circulation includes state colleges, universities, independent colleges, libraries, churches, and private homes.

Huntington College is judged by all these institutions, and the conclusions they reach are derived from the Huntingtonian. Thus, we who do not realize the importance of the journalistic efforts of the Huntingtonian staff can now readily see why they must be worthy of the name they bear.

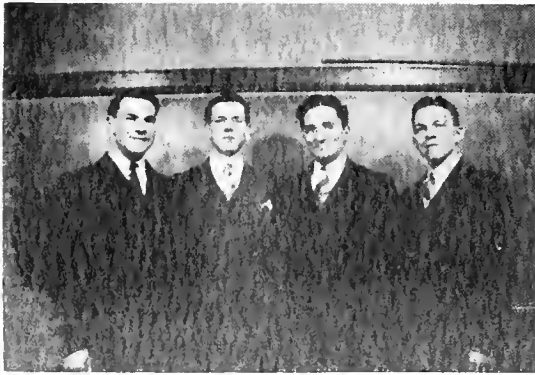

The Huntingtonian not only is a clarion to the world, but is also the information bureau of the students. Information of the coming activities of the school are announced. Debate, Choir, and Basketball all are moulded in the minds of the students by the Huntingtonian. Then, too, some gossip is found among the KOOKIE KRUMS which accumulate. All these go together to make the Huntingtonian a well filled newspaper.

The staff this year is again under the direction of Dean Robinson, Professor of Journalism. With Margaret Cook as faculty advisor, Gerald Stucker was appointed Editor-in-chief, and DeWitt Baker Business Manager. These were assisted by Pauline Scholl, News Editor; Esther Barnes, Copy Editor; Morris Jones, Sports Editor; Charles Baum, Religious Editor; Bernadine Hoffman, Circulation Manager, and other assistants and reporters. ## QUARTETS

"Music is the universal language of mankind."

With the knowledge of the widespread appeal of music, several quartets were, according to the usual custom, organized again this year to render service, and represent Huntington College upon various occasions.

The Varsity Quartet functioned only during the first semester on account of the loss of one of their members at the end of that time. The quartet consisted of Galen Colclessor, Max Lemar, William Harrington, and Olen Vincent, and was organized mainly for the purpose of supplying programs at nearby high schools and at various other secular meetings, such as banquets, luncheons, and Parent-Teacher's meetings.

The Ladies' Quartette, intact from last year, continued their good work, to the pleasure of all who had heard them. The personnel of this quartette was Bernadine Hoffman, Frances Hough, Margaret May, and Harriet Foster. They filled many engagements during the year throughout the church and city, and, following the disbanding of the Varsity Quartet, they filled the engagements connected with extension work in nearby high schools.

The Gospel Male Quartet, composed of Charles McCreery, Lyle Cook, Gerald Stucker, and Paul Middaugh, also saw extensive service during the year, and specialized in sacred music. Most of their service was extension work in the church throughout Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan.

For a note of variety, Professor Schoenhals organized a mixed quartet at the beginning of the second semester, primarily to assist on the program of the spring choir tour. This quartet, consisting of Bernadine Hoffman, Margaret May, Max Lemar, and Duane Reahm, also assisted in filling engagements left unfilled by the disbanding of the Varsity Quartet.

All of these musical organizations were greatly in demand in Huntington and vicinity and accompanied field representatives on more extensive trips in Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan. Some radio work was done by the quartets, especially the Ladies' Quartette, in connection with their choir broadcasts.

Huntington College has a most effective and worthwhile mode of advertising through the medium of the music of these groups.

A CAPELLA CHOIR

The choir is one of the most educational and interesting organizations of Huntington College. And the high point of the choir during the year is the annual tour during the spring vacation.

Last year we were privileged to make two different trips. The first one was in the Michigan and North Michigan Conferences. The regular tour took us into the Pennsylvania Conference. To many of us this trip into the mountains was a new experience. There was one exception to this. We had one member who claimed to know Pennsylvania and for the last fifty miles, preceding our first concert in that state, he continuously encouraged us by saying, "Only one more mountain to cross." Some still remember him as "One-Mountain" Yohe.

This year's tour, a 1200-mile trip into Michigan and the Dominion of Canada, was indeed interesting. We sang a number of concerts in Michigan, and not the least interesting visit we made was in Brown City, the boyhood home of our director. (It was certainly enlightening to learn how he behaved himself in Sunday School.)

Both years we were privileged to give a number of radio broadcasts. The choir is also busy during Commencement Week. These choir experiences are not only a pleasure but often prove valuable in after days.

Everyone appreciates the untiring work of our director Professor Schoenhals, and we admire his choice of sacred numbers and the Christian spirit which he stresses in each song.

As a closing verse we would quote the A Cappella Choir Credo to which all the choir members affix their name:

"I believe in the ideals of Huntington College and earnestly determine to exemplify them in every relationship, with a special sense of responsibility as my Alma Mater's ambassador in song."

DEBATE

There is nothing like a good argument and it takes more than one to argue.

With this in mind the debate Coach began to assemble the argumentative talent of Huntington College at the beginning of the school year.

Using the Phi Delta Kappa Collegiate debate topic—(Resolved: That the United States Should Cease to Use Public Funds for the Purpose of Stimulating Business,) the class began with the study of the present economic situation in the United States but was soon directed into the local and national political mess.

Soon after the Christmas vacation a debate trip was taken starting at a Triangular debate tournament at Marion College. The next day the teams left for Holland, Michigan, to participate in a tournament at Hope College, then ended the trip with a tournament at Illinois Normal in Bloomington, Illinois. Twenty-one debates were held in all with fourteen wins.

Returning to Huntington the "A" teams defeated Anderson and Goshen Colleges making twenty-nine debates in all with only seven losses.

Feeling in shape for the annual Manchester-Huntington College debate tournament, the teams redoubled their activity in order to score for Huntington.

On Feb. 23 and 24 ninety-four debating teams took over the campus. Over 200 choice Collegians participated in this the largest inter-collegiate tournament in the United States. After the heat of the contest subsided Huntington emerged with seven out of twelve wins ranking fourth place.

Manchester was also invaded and Huntington came away with higher laurels than debating.

So ended the debate year with the teams chalking up 29 wins and 14 losses. May the next year find greater successes for Huntington.

THE LAUNDRY

THE LAUNDRY

One of the well known walks on our campus is the one that leads to the Laundry. Each Tuesday we see students trudging down to the laundry, usually with three or four laundry bags, depending on their generosity and ambition.

The laundry has been progressing very efficiently this year with Miss Wilma Monroe as our leader. Outside of a few fuses and ironing cords being burned out, everything has run smoothly and with very little complaint.

As a whole, the Laundry force is composed of girls who are eager for an education and are interested in doing their best to obtain one and to please. Each girl has assumed the duties assigned to her and thus cooperation has brought about efficiency.

JANITOR

One of the least appreciated, yet most important of men about Huntington College is the Rev. L. A. Middaugh, our Superintendent of Grounds and Buildings. In this capacity he is responsible for the maintenance of the appearance of the institution. He works early and late, sacrificing that we may unthinkingly enjoy ourselves.

Rev. Middaugh has several college men working under him. Some fire the furnace in the morning, others haul the coal to the heating plant and the dormitories, still others care for the lawns, and certain ones are commissioned with the task of keeping the buildings in proper condition. Although our work may be menial, we take pride in doing it well and, in our humble, yet important way, aiding our college.

D. B.

LIBRARY

Huntington College students are proud of their library. Within the last three years, since the city canvass for books was started, four thousand, three hundred volumes have been added to the library. At present our library contains thirteen thousand, six hundred volumes.

Through the generous gift of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Kindell the different departments of the college have been able to buy for the library books pertaining to the subjects taught in these departments. This has provided some much needed reference material.

Our librarian, Miss Cook, has capably directed the work of her nine assistants among whom a fellow is numbered, for the first time. The assistants appreciate this opportunity and hope that they have been of service to the library and the college.

THE ART DEPARTMENT

Courses offered by the Art Department for the past year included Commercial Art, Drawing and Painting, Crafts, and art for the students preparing for Elementary teaching.

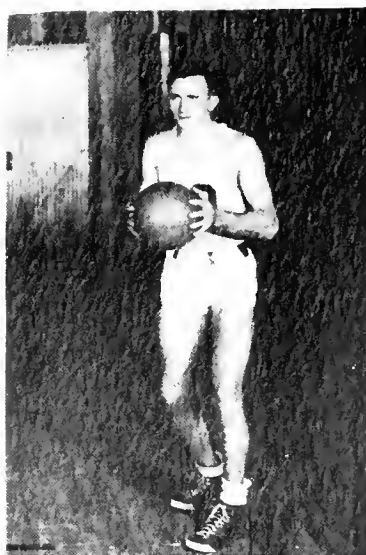

Courses for the Elementary teacher stressed the importance of teaching the principles of art in such a way as to make them applicable to the everyday life of the child. Courses in drawing and painting offered expression in various 'media.' Students from the commercial department were given a view of the artistic side of business in the commercial wood carving, masts-making, basket-weaving, etc.

Appreciation of other work is best gained by having personal experience in using the medium of the artist. On the bulletin in the Art room, each week, were shown a different group of prints from the Masters, beginning with the Italian Renaissance up to the modern times.

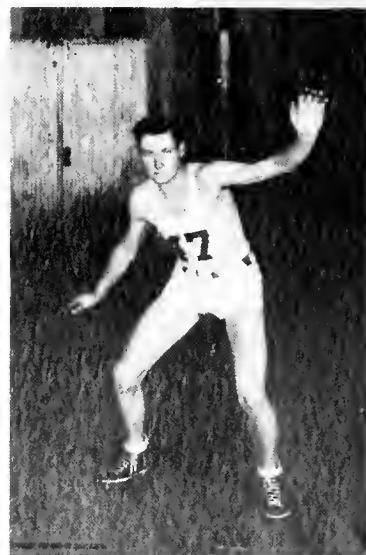

In the various Art courses the students were made to realize "that art is not an outer product or behavior, but that it is an attitude of spirit which demands for its own satisfaction and fulfilling a shaping of matter to new and more significant form."

"VARSITY"

LYLE COOK—The high point man of the year. Not only was "Cookie" a scoring threat but was also a bug-bear on defense. Lyle was a clean player and will certainly be missed in the athletics department next year.

RICHARD GOSHORN—Can we ever forget that famous "hook-shot" of Dick's? And not only will it remain in our minds but it was a thorn in many of the opponents' side during the year. Dick was second in the scoring column. Not only was "Gossie" an offensive threat but was a power on defense. "Gossie" will be missed in years to come for his shooting, his defense and his clean playing.

LELAND SKINNER—After having played for two years on the varsity "Lee" felt it necessary to withdraw from college, but this year he returned. "Lee" will be missed for his defensive tactics. When "Lee" had a man one could rest assured that his man wouldn't run over him. "Lee" also has the distinction of being the only married man on the squad, and perhaps that was wherein his power lay.

DUANE REAHM—Duane started out slowly but during the course of the year Duane was called upon to substitute and did such a swell job of it that he earned a regular position about the middle of the playing season. It can be said of Duane that he was in there continually giving his best for his alma mater. Duane was a fighter from start to finish and will always be remembered as one who, though not so strong on the offense, was really a power on defense.

EARL KREIGER—Earl will be remembered for his stellar defensive tactics and his shooting ability especially from the corners of the court. Earl has two more years to play for the Red and Green and much will be expected from him.

BASKETBALL

A team must be judged, not on how many games it has won or lost, but on how the players played the game. It can be said that the Foresters, though on the short side of the score, were never on that side because they lacked in fight. In reviewing the season one is impressed by the 'fighting spirit' which Coach Howard was continually instilling into the players. The team itself, though small in height, was characterized by its alert and aggressive spirit.

The Foresters faced a difficult schedule with a nucleus of four Seniors who had previously seen service only as reserves. The remainder of the squad was composed of Sophomores and Freshmen. The team was hampered early in the season by the loss of two boys who were counted on to do much for the team—Wilmer Bugher, a Junior, and Sam Overholt, a Freshman.

The team won two games from Concordia, one game from Giffin Junior College and they registered one win over Normal College American Gymnastic Union. Several other games of the season were outstanding because some of the strongest teams in the state were able to win over the Foresters by very low margins. These teams included Central Normal, Valparaiso and Anderson. The total difference in score of the latter three games was but nine points.

The team and Coach Howard are to be commended upon the fine sportsmanship they have shown during the season as well as for the showing they made against some of the toughest competition in the state.

BASEBALL

Due to the time when we must have our reports in it is impossible to have a very long writeup on the subject of baseball. Huntington College, though somewhat weakened by the graduation of the ball players last year, had a ball team that cannot be denied. There were not many pitchers, but due to the patience of Coach Howard and his ability to get the best out of a fellow, the boys did not do so badly. When he issued the call for baseball there were not many boys out but when the news got around that the College would have a team more came out.

Games were scheduled with Concordia College of Fort Wayne, Manchester College, and Taylor. Returned games were played with all of these teams which made the schedule a full one.

GIRL'S ATHLETICS

The athletics of the girls of the college during the year consisted mainly of softball, basketball, and tennis.

The fine weather permitted softball playing longer than usual in the fall and although enjoying those games immensely several days were spent in getting the tennis court in condition and one day the game was nearly postponed in favor of Bud McCoy's dog.

Cold winds finally drove the girls inside and they began basketball practice. Practicing and playing was confined to our own gym and among the girls themselves until near the end of the season. Several games were then arranged with the Y. W. C. A. of the city and one with Huntington Township High School.

Those girls who will be remembered as basketball 'stars' are Frances Hough, Betty Goodale, Velma Krogman, Vera Wetters, Riva June Williams, Helen Brown, Margaret Carter, Maxine Birdsell, Wilma Monroe.

Spring brought a new supply of energy and enthusiasm and also tennis fever. Several of the girls proved to be sufficiently interested and skilled in the game to furnish interesting matches.

The girls feel that their athletics this year have not only proved to be fascinating but have helped to fulfill an essential part of education — that of physical development.

Dear Esther.

Last years chain trip and a number of things this year have been a little less pleasant than I wonder if you'll always have to

Doyle Lehman named association president-elect

Adams Central Superintendent Doyle Lehman will be installed June 12 as president-elect of the Indiana Association of Public School Superintendents at its annual meeting at Teibel's Restaurant, Schererville.

Robert J. Schrenker, Superintendent, Merrillville Community School Corporation, Merrillville will be installed as IAPSS president; John D. Light, superintendent of Warren Township, Indianapolis, as vice-president; and Roger Dickinson, superintendent, West Central School Corporation, Francesville, as treasurer.

Tracey F. Dust, superintendent, New Albany-Floyd County Consolidated School Corporation, New Albany, has served as president of IAPSS for the past year.

Lehman will be installed in his new position on July 1. Lehman has been Superintendent of the Adams Central Schools for seven years. He and his wife, Anna, reside in Berne where they are members of the First Mennonite Church. They are the parents of three children: Kevin, Union City; Brent, Wells County; and Cheryl Lautzenheiser, Fort Wayne.

The association consists of 418 members composed of Indiana public school superintendents, central office personnel and higher education instructors of school administration.
